

Inland Petroleum Ltd. Comes Through With Good Showing

Policy of Directors and Management
Endorsed by Re-Election of Entire Board

The annual meeting of Inland Petroleum Ltd., held on Wednesday afternoon, to receive the financial statement and report of work covering the past two years, the annual meeting being omitted last year.

The company operates wells across the Canadian border, in Montana, and the report submitted by the secretary-manager, A. M. Denmore, showed that one well, which had been producing, dropped its output, and after being cleaned out showed an increased production, though not up to expectations. The company has two producing wells.

The general operations of the company, compared with others in the field, showed up favorably, though values of leases had depreciated owing to general conditions of the past three years. With an improvement in outlook, it was felt the company would stand to gain on its investment, and the policy of the directors was endorsed by the shareholders by unanimous vote. A cash balance of approximately $10,000 was shown on the financial statement, and the directors decided no dividend would be declared, as this should be held in reserve.

Directors were re-elected as follows: A. M. Morrison, Coleman; George Fisher, Natal, B.C.; E. K. Stewart and Mr. Cox, Fernie; F. M. Thompson, Blairmore; G. E. Crickbank, M.L.A., Hillcrest; and Arthur M. Denmore, Lundbreck, secretary and manager.

It is quite likely that the capacity of the hall will be taxed, as these plays create widespread interest.

POSTMASTER MAKES REQUEST
In affixing stamps to envelopes, you are asked to place the stamp in the top from the right hand corner, and not downwards on the envelope. The reason is it facilitates cancelling the stamps, and shortens the work of the postmaster. The attention of the public to this would be appreciated.

The Journal office can fill your orders for commercial stationery.

IMPORTANT!

Copy for the Special Christmas Edition of The Coleman Journal must be in the office by Saturday, Dec. 16. Merchants and others who desire space for Christmas Greetings or other advertising who have not been called on should telephone 209.

OLD TIMERS POPPING UP

Since recording some reminiscences of old timers, various others have arisen to lay claim to be numbered among the elect. Steve Lesky has lived here since 1903, though for a while he lived in Fernie, where he was married in 1906. Since then he has lived here, and about three years ago made his first trip back to Czechoslovakia. Al Blasco and Andrew Buchna, he states are two other old-timers.

Another old timer is John Hopkins sr., who has lived here since 1907, while his son-in-law, Walter Nelson, can lay claim to being one of the oldest youngest old-timers, if you can gather what this means. Walter states that many of those who were considered "old-timers" when he came and with whom he used to "chum" have been getting younger since, for now when anyone asks their age, they are younger than he.

UNITED CHURCH NOTES

Mr. A. Lytle, representative of the British and Foreign Bible Society, was the preacher in the United church Sunday morning and gave a very informative address on the work and aims of the society. In the evening the minister preached on the theme "Why on Believe in the Bible." The Men's Brotherhood held a very interesting meeting Monday evening, when Mr. Taylor introduced Dr. Kirby Page's book "Living Creatively." A discussion followed on the chapter entitled "Relieving Human Misery." The next meeting will be held on Monday.

Preparations are under way for the presentation of a very inspiring pageant depicting the Christmas theme by the Sunday school. The usual services will be held Sunday, Dec. 17, when on Christmas Night following.

On account of the inclemency of the weather the congregational social which was to be held Friday is postponed indefinitely.

Expect Large Number of People From Crows
Nest Pass Towns

42 people will be included in the cast of a play to be presented in Coleman Community Hall on Dec. 26, and preparations are now proceeding, in order to have it as near perfect as possible on that date.

On June 30 last the society staged a play in the Polish hall, which was packed and many were unable to gain admittance. The play will be of an historical nature, depicting scenes from Slovak national life, while those taking part will be attired in their national costumes.

Prize-winners of the articles drawn for at the bazaar on Saturday in the parish hall were Mrs. Howarth, cake; Nora McLeod, quilt; Beverly Short, toy dog; Prue Borden, ornamental door-stop. Those in charge of the various stalls included Mrs. Hoyle, president; Mrs. Cornett, secretary; Mrs. Blower, Mrs. Hancock, in charge of tea stall; Elizabeth Moores and Helen Hancock, waiting on tables; Mrs. Nell, Mrs. G. Derbyshire, Mrs. J. Derbyshire, Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. Halliwell. The ladies thank all who donated towards the bazaar. Mrs. Gait and Mrs. Borrowers were in charge of Fancy Work.

The past few days, with blocked roads and severe weather conditions, brings home to people the advantages of the railroads. Light weather methods of travel cause people to lose sight of the fact that they become inoperative in foul weather and were it not for the railroads transportation of freight and passengers would come to a standstill. Yet people who are forced to use the highways when they cannot use the highways will unreasonably complain because a train may be half an hour late. Instead, they should be thanking the railroads for furnishing them with a means of carrying on their business. The trains carry on, fighting snow and operating at heavy cost, while motor trucks and buses stand up. Instead, they should be thanking the railroads for providing warmth, comfort and meals if required. They get you there in spite of the weather.

Curling and Skating Rinks Opened This Week—Hockey Begins

Again Under Management of George Jenkins—Curlers Meeting This Evening.

Below zero weather has pepped up winter sports, and ice has been formed at the big arena, which opened on Tuesday. The Crows Nest Hockey League, including Coleman, Blairmore and Bellevue is expected to announce its schedule this week. Coleman will have a team this season which will be the strongest it has had since 1928, as several additions have been made to the already good bunch of players of the past few seasons.

The curling club is meeting this evening at 7.30 in the council chamber, and expect to commence their games next Monday.

JUNIOR RED CROSS NOTES

The portfolio prepared by Cameron school junior Red Cross branch has been acknowledged by Willow Springs school, North Carolina. It was forwarded 18 months ago, and contained many interesting pictures of Canadian life.

Mrs. Krzwy of West Coleman made from cardboard a very fine doll's house, fitted with fireplace, lamp and other interesting features, which she donated to the junior Red Cross. The branch has sold Christmas seals to the value of $5.00 to augment the branch funds. This branch has carried out its good work for several years, under the guidance of Miss A. Yuill, principal of Cameron school.

TALK OF THE BOXING RING

Kid Winters is to meet Johnny Campbell in a 10 round boxing match at Lethbridge on Dec. 22, and Frank Barrington is managing Kid Winters. A very meagre crowd appeared on the horizon for Jimmy Burrell of Blairmore, and is endeavoring to stage a match at Lethbridge.

Victoria, City of All-Year Summer

This leisurely and lovely city, more typical of old-world restfulness than Canadian bustle, located in the heart of Canada's evergreen playground, is becoming more and more the resort of Canadians who, flying from the austere of the northern winter, have discovered that the Dominion offers climatic amenities for which in other years it was thought that Florida or California were the only solutions.

West of the Rockies and warmed by the Japan current, Vancouver Island presents some amazing contrasts with the rest of the Dominion. Winter climatic conditions are such that there are hundreds of hours of warm sunshine with ideal temperature, minimum rainfall and conditions at once restful and health-giving.

Canadian enterprise has been quick to see the advantages offered by Victoria for those who seek summer facilities and sports during the normal winter months. The city boasts one of the finest hosteleries of the Dominion, the Empress Hotel, overlooking the inner harbor and tree-shaded lawns; social centre and headquarters for varied sporting activities. These include golf on superb full length courses, tennis and swimming in the great salt water pool at the Crystal Gardens. At Christmas the pageantry of an "Old English Yuletide" is observed every year at the Empress with "Bringing in the Yule Log," "Boat's Head Carol" and the New Year's Eve Ball is a famous institution at the Empress. From November 1 to the following April 30 there are special low rates in force.

What has specially drawn cosmopolitan-wide attention to Victoria, however, is the mid-winter golf tournament, an annual Empress affair to which many well-known amateur golfers from America and Europe are attracted. This season it will be played over the course of the picturesque Royal Colwood Golf Club from February 19 to 24, 1934. Events include the E. W. Beatty Challenge Trophy, open to all amateurs playing under club handicaps; Men's Open Amateur Event for the Victoria

Chamber of Commerce Trophy; Victoria Rotary Cup for ladies' best gross; and the inter-district team match for the Matson Trophy. The E. W. Beatty Trophy event is divided into classes for both ladies and men. Dinner dances as well as other delightful entertainment are given every evening at the Empress during the competition. With the presentation of prizes at a Grand Ball on closing night.

Motoring is always a delightful form of entertainment in Victoria. There are many other world-wide roads stretching beyond Victoria at the choice of the motorist. If a short sea trip is desired, there is the triangle run by pelican coast steamers between Vancouver, Victoria, and Seattle.

The Canadian Pacific Railway offers a schedule of new low fares from all points in Canada, east of the British Columbia-Alberta boundary, to Victoria, daily, from November 15 to February 28, with return limit April 30.

KIXE

ONLY 20¢ A BIG PLUG

A Happy Warrior

Many letters and postage parcels being delivered to people in Canada and the United States these days bear a little stamp in addition to the regular postage stamps. To a steadily increasing extent at the Christmas season these little extra stamps are in evidence on our mail.

What do they mean? What object do they serve? What message do they bring?

They bring a message of Christmas greetings and good wishes from the sender of the letter to the receiver of it. The regular postage stamp is a purely business stamp, a notification and receipt, as it were, that the carrying charges on the letter or parcel have been paid. But this other little stamp appearing on the reverse side of the letter from the address side is a very personal thing, carrying a purely personal message.

But there is nevertheless a business aspect to these unofficial stamps. The question has been asked, what object do they serve? The answer is that through the sale of these little stickers for our mail, money is raised for one particular purpose, and that purpose is to urge unremitting warfare throughout the year upon the dread disease of tuberculosis. And it is at the time when all people recall the Christmas message of "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men," that this little harbinger of hope makes its annual appearance.

One cent is not a large sum of money, and that is the price of one of these little stamps. But when thousands of people buy a stamp, ten stamps, one hundred stamps, and the total sale of these stamps runs away up into the hundreds of thousands and millions, and the one cent pieces roll into the coffers of the anti-tuberculosis organizations in hundreds of thousands and millions, it means that many people all over this great continent are going to receive preventive treatment against tuberculosis which otherwise they could not obtain. It means that a danger and a threat to every home throughout the land will be discovered and steps taken to remove it. It means that countless numbers of children will be saved from this dread disease to live lives of good health and usefulness whereas otherwise they would probably all be an ill too early grave.

But these little stamps serve still another purpose. They mean more than a Christmas greeting and a simple practical method of raising money for a great health and humanitarian purpose. They come into the homes of the land on letters and parcels once a year with a kindly warning. They ask us to take note of them; to stop and consider what they represent; and they bring a further message to us when they enter—an urgent request that we check up on ourselves and our homes once again to ascertain whether or not we are living under conditions, or indulging in habits, conducive to the contraction or development of tuberculosis.

The message of these stamps is to educate people to prevent tuberculosis from getting even a foothold, just as the practical object of their sale is to raise funds to maintain educational preventive agencies all the year round and to provide means of stamping out the disease in its very earliest stages where it has unfortunately obtained a foothold.

So, to the man, woman or child who has a nasty, persistent cold, a stamp on your mail says: Beware; do not neglect that cold, take steps to stop it at once, and if it doesn't stop see a doctor without loss of time. It says to the boys and girls who get their feet wet, and to their mother, get those wet boots and stockings off, dry and warm those feet. It points a finger of warning in homes where there is a lack of pure, fresh air, and says: open the windows and let in all the sunshine and air you can, winter as well as summer.

Because this little stamp means so much, carries such important messages and performs such a highly important work, the more of them that are started out on their mission the better. Individual readers of this article may never know how much actual good they have accomplished by placing these stamps on their letters and parcels during the next few days. The few cents they cost will be put to good purpose, and you may thereby be directly responsible for the saving of a life. The message the stamp may carry on your letter into the home of a friend or relative may result in greater care to prevent tuberculosis being taken in that home. Possibly the stamp on a letter received by you has caused you to do some serious thinking; return the favor by sending a stamp into some home where like beneficial results may follow.

No Doubt About It

A shopkeeper was persuaded to insure his premises against fire. After he formalities had been completed he shopman said: "Now, let me understand this property. If my shop goes on fire tonight, how much will I get?" "Well," said the agent with a grim smile, "taking recent events into consideration, I should say about ten years."

A business man says it is the easiest thing in the world to earn a hundred pounds a week. But it is difficult to get paid that much.

Dog collars studded with red glass, so that the pets may be seen by motorists at night, have appeared in London.

Health For Young Girls Happiness For Tired Women

"Thousands of women become tired out and run down, because this acid, pale, and profound weakness makes life a burden."

The whole outlook of life is changed when the nervous, sick headaches, the sleeplessness, the spells of dizziness, of weakness and discouragement, and the tired, languid feelings disappear with the use of Milburn's H. & N. Pills. They tone up the nerves, enrich the blood, and bring the health back to normal again.

Assist Fur Farmers

Amendments To Regulations Under Saskatchewan Fur Act

Saskatchewan's legitimate fur farmers will receive relief from royalty payments on farm-raised furbearing animals through amendments to the regulations under the Saskatchewan Fur Act, provided for by order-in-council.

These regulations provide for no collection of royalties on silver black foxes, fisher or marten, bred on a licensed fur farm, and provides also for the rebate of all royalties collected on all other furs except muskrat, where sufficient proof is provided that the pelts were from animals actually raised on the farm.

In the case of all furs, with the exception of fox, fisher or marten, royalties are collected, and are subject to rebate in a similar manner to the way in which gasoline tax refunds are made.

The new regulations also make provision for the abolition of fees for import permits, although such permits are still required. Such permits will be issued free of charge.

Relief is also granted to those purchasing pelts. Formerly purchasers were required to pay 25 cents per pelt, but now such has been reduced to "as for equal to the royalty" which would be due and payable on such pelts.

Code Of The Hoboes

Do Not Seek Something For Nothing And Scorn Hitch Hikers.

While they lost no time in drawing up a code of fair practice, the Hoboes of America, as represented by their annual convention, find that "riding the rods" of box cars has become even too hazardous for the veteran "boos," what with the new single rods and the high trucks now in use. But the hoboes still scorn the hitch hiker and do not seek anything for nothing. The code for the "itinerant workmen" provides: Hoboes will not wash dishes or otherwise work in a restaurant for meals—such might take work away from a man with a family. Pay for cleaning shoes off work shall be 50 cents an hour and the same rate applies to shovelling coal or cleaning windows. Hoboes may chop some wood on farms in exchange for a bed in the barn or a meal, but shall not chop all day for those awards.

Dairy Convention

Saskatchewan Meeting To Be Held In Regina In February

A Saskatchewan-wide dairy convention will be held in Regina on February 6 and 7, it was announced by Thomas Watson, Prince Albert, president of the Provincial Dairy Association.

Dairy producers and manufacturers will hold separate sessions on the opening day. Factors affecting the production of milk and marketing problems will be dealt with by the producers, particularly in regard to the fluid milk and cream trade. The manufacturers session will have under consideration matters of plant operation, and butter and cheese production.

Joint sessions will occupy the second day, when problems of general interest will receive attention.

Makes Crossing Easy

Test Of Germany's Mid-Atlantic Aerodrome Was A Success

The proposal that a series of great floating pontoons be anchored at intervals across the Atlantic from America to Europe, thus serving as stepping stones for trans-oceanic airplanes, is not new, but evidently it has remained for Germany to put the idea into practical use. The Westfalen is anchored in mid-Atlantic in preparation for the proposed regular air service between Germany and South America. In a recent test flight a plane reached the ship in six hours from Bathurst, Africa, then took off and reached Natal, Brazil, eight hours and 50 minutes later, thus crossing the Atlantic in under 15 hours flying time.—Christian Science Monitor.

Very Important

A young lady was having her first lesson in motor driving. The expert was at some pains to make her understand the action of the brakes. "The hand lever," he explained, "brakes the rear wheels only, but the foot-pedal brakes all four wheels. Now, is that plain?" "It is," answered the pupil with a trace of annoyance. "But what is going to happen to me when all the wheels are broken?"

More than 21,000 people are employed directly and entirely in the construction of air craft and air engines.

EXCESS FAT DUE TO RHEUMATISM

One Remedy for the Two Troubles

Having rheumatism so badly that she could scarcely walk, this woman began to put on a load of superfluous flesh. In a letter just received, she writes:—

"I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my legs. It was so bad that for three weeks I could not put my feet to the ground. I was also getting terribly fat—through not getting my usual exercise. I started taking Kruschen, and persevered. The first thing I noticed was the tonic effect it had on the next that my rheumatism went, and—better than anything—I lost the stretched fat. I am a woman of 50, and when I tell you I do exactly the same work as women half my age without the least difficulty, I think you will understand why I swear by Kruschen Salts and recommend them wherever I go."—M. E.

The six salts of Kruschen assist the internal organs to throw off each day the wastage and poisons that encumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes—but surely. The rheumatism and headache disappear. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful and energetic—more so than ever before in your life.

Simple Faith

Religious Character Of Late General Sir Arthur Currie Is Illustrated

As illustrating the religious character and fundamental faith of the late General Sir Arthur Currie, an incident of the early post-war days of 1919 in England is recalled here by Norman Sommerville, prominent Toronto K.C.

Britain was then in the throes of the reactions of war's end. Strikes and general unrest prevailed. All sorts of remedies were being suggested. Sir Arthur and Mr. Sommerville were in England at the time. Jack, of the Royal Academy, who was painting the Canadian general's portrait. Talking over the conditions of the time Mr. Sommerville asked Sir Arthur what in his opinion was most essential to bring about real social and industrial contentment and progress.

"Just this," said Sir Arthur, fervently, "Britain must get back to the Bible and to family worship and there find peace and comfort."

Sale Of Prize Cattle

Good Prices Obtained At Royal Winter Fair

Sale of prize cattle at the Royal Winter Fair had numerous buyers with the grand champion Aberdeen Angus steer, owned by Howard T. Fraleigh, of Forest, Ont., bringing $432.25. The steer, weighing 1,285 pounds, was sold for 35 cents a pound.

An average price of 8½ cents a pound was obtained for the champion carlot of cattle exhibited by the Canadian Pacific Railway farm at Strathmore, Alberta. The second prize carlot, exhibited by the McIntyre Ranching Company, High River, Alberta, also brought an average figure of 8½ cents a pound.

The Prince of Wales' Shorthorn steer from his ranch near High River, Alberta, tenth in its class, was bid up to 14 cents a pound before sold.

India To Have Exhibition

Asking Machinery Firms All Over World To Send Exhibits

Invitations are being sent to machinery manufacturers in all parts of the world to send exhibits to the exhibition of Indian industries that will be held at Delhi next February. The Association for the Development of Swadeshi (Home) Industries is organizing the event, which is intended to show the development being made in India's home industries. The organization has achieved much success in promoting the "cottage" type of industry in which the work is done at home or in small shops. It also has helped in launching large enterprises. The promoters say that these industries soon will need machinery, ranging from those turning out agricultural and mining instruments to these producing toys.

"Is this Peabody, Finchley, Longworth & Fitzgerald?"

"Yes, this is Peabody, Finchley Longworth & Fitzgerald."

"I want to speak to Mr. Smith."

NERVOUS, SLEEPLESS

Mr. Wm. Dowling of 15 Hamilton Road, London, Ont., says: "My nerves were all wrong. I couldn't sleep, my appetite was gone. I became weak and suffered from pains in the back—in fact I was all over it. But the first bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery produced a wonderful change, so I continued to use it until I felt all right again."

Juvenile Law Too Lenient

Woman Magistrate From England Has Had Seven Years' Experience

Seven years' experience as presiding officer at the Juvenile Court in St. Pancras Division, London, England, has led Mrs. Philip Bright, J.P., to believe that children who break laws are often treated in too lenient a fashion, particularly when they repeat offences. "I admit," said Mrs. Bright when interviewed at Montreal, that I am one of the few women judges who has ever ordered a boy to be birched. But the boy was a repeated offender and I must say that after he had been birched he never again appeared in the court before me had broken."

No children appear in juvenile court in England until they are eight years of age and are considered juvenile cases until they reach 17. Mrs. Bright pointed out. The whole atmosphere of the juvenile courts are one of informality, she explained, the officers testifying in civilian clothes instead of the awe-inspiring blue and brass. She felt this system had acted as a boomerang as it tended to do away with much that would impress the errant boy or girl with the majesty of the law which he had broken.

As long as the mother was "all right," Mrs. Bright said, it was felt that the children of the family could easily be led back into paths of rectitude from which they might have strayed, regardless of the character of their father. But if the mother was "no good," the work of Juvenile Court Officials was regarded as a colossal task, whether the father was a consistent offender or whether he was a law-abiding man.

She is a firm believer in the sanctity of marriage and would make it more difficult than more easy to get divorce, except when one partner in the marriage is a habitual criminal or is found to be incurably insane. Crime conditions have improved very considerably in Britain, Mrs. Bright said. "We are closing prisons in England—not building them," she added.

Revaluating The Horse

Demand In Recent Months Has Overlooked The Supply

It is arguable that farmers in the long run can do as much for themselves by revaluating the horse as by devaluing the dollar. Students of the agrarian problem know that no small part of the farmer's troubles are due to the gasoline engine, which has been displacing the horse and so robbing the farmer of an outlet for his hay and feed. Millions of acres have thus gone out of cultivation. In 1920 there were more than 20,000,000 horses on the nation's farms. In 1930 they were down to 13,000,000.

Since the depression the horse has been coming back. A bulletin of the Horse Association of America says there were on March 1 this year, 15,200,000 horses on the farm. Receipts of horses at public stock yards in the first eight months of this year were nearly 30 per cent. higher than for the same period last year. One depression argument is that when farm prices are down it costs less to feed horses and mules than to feed tractor.

Time has its revenge. Tractor agents in the past no doubt warned the farmer against draught animals which ate their heads off. The farmer now wants all the horses—and human beings—he can find to eat their heads off. He still has feedstuffs to sell.—New York Times.

Alcoholic Poisoning

Many Deaths From This Cause Says University Professor

Prof. Joslyn Rogers, assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Toronto, addressing the Women's Canadian club, stated that more people died of alcoholic poisoning than all other causes added together.

Ten per cent. of these died from drinking good alcoholic beverage; 75 per cent. died from bootleg or bathtub gin. He pointed to the potency of home-made alcohol and its ability to knock a man out—something which was a fact but which was not understood by chemists. The danger in drinking one's own wine or alcoholic beverage was obvious he said.

"Hello, Jones. Got a new car?"

"Yes. I went into the garage to use the phone and I didn't like coming away without—buying something!"

A naturalist says that African natives consider elephant meat a feast, but to a white man it is tasteless and most unpleasantly gummy to the teeth.

It is a noticeable fact that most of us only consider religion when we are in difficulties.

Too Much Uric Acid

is a very common cause of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago. Damaged Kidneys allow an excessive amount of uric acid to accumulate. Take Gin Pills to give relief while they are assisting your kidneys to function normally.

Multi-Colored Bricks

Building Bricks Of Various Tones And Tints Now Having Vogue

In recent years there has been a marked improvement in England, particularly in the south, in favor of multi-colored or multi-textured bricks. States a report, issued recently by the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, on the building brick industries.

The colors range from white, yellow, tan, brown, red, to purple, blue, black grey with variegated and mottled tints. Descriptions such as "tannum tints," "cherry red," "brindled," "dark strawberry," "orange red," "plum," "silver grey," "golden grey," "pot-pourri," "brown mottled brick," "found in catalogues, give an indication of the wealth of vivid colorings.

But these are greatly outdistanced by the Americans. Urged by the recent enthusiasm of architects for color, they have achieved a remarkable range of gradation in light shades—white, cream, stone, limestone, grey to match natural stone, iron, buff, golden buff, as well as in vivid tints of tangerine, toasted brown, pale greens, reds, blues and purples. They have reproduced the tints of the sycamore and its foliage, red, grey, golden brown, green and fawn.

Reference is made to the adoption in American skyscrapers of flowing color schemes, wherein hue is superimposed on hue, or where the contrasting of light and dark is used in columns running to the height of the building, thus emphasizing the vertical construction.

Celebrate Radium Wedding

Couple In Devon Have Been Married Seventy Years

In the little village of Axmouth, near Seaton (Devon) two oldest inhabitants have celebrated their "radium wedding."

And in case you don't know what a radium wedding is, it represents seventy years of conjugal bliss.

The couple are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoare, each aged about ninety. They were born at Axmouth and married in the village church. They still live there, though they were away from the old village for many years, for Mr. Hoare served his full time with the Metropolitan Police.

His reminiscences of a police work in London are worth hearing, for he has vivid memories of the Jack the Ripper murders, being closely connected with the police investigations.—London Sunday Pictorial.

Anarchist Revolt In Spain Results In Loss Of 78 Lives

Madrid, Spain.—The mounting toll in Spain's anarchist revolt has reached 78 known dead on Monday, Dec. 11, with government claims of injuries in three provinces bordering Catalonia, offset by continued fighting in central Spain.

A fierce outbreak at Vallanueva and Laesera contributed heavily to the list of casualties with beheaded extremist rebels still holding fort against civil guards and well-armed government troops.

Bombings in Madrid, sporadic outbreaks of fighting in Barcelona, sabotage of railways and communications throughout northern and eastern Spain and persistent efforts of extremist political followers to enforce a general strike marked a Sunday of strife in Spain.

Minister of Interior, Ricio Avell, announced Sunday night the revolt, which began Saturday, Dec. 9, had been definitely suppressed in Alava, Huesca and lower Tercel provinces. He said the army remained loyal to the government and was under perfect discipline.

Government spokesmen expressed confidence Sunday would mark an end of the reign of anarchist revolt which included bombings, shootings, wrecking of trains, burning of churches and convents, cutting of communication lines and other acts of sabotage.

Churches and convents were fired, but only two were completely destroyed. All international telephone lines and many interprovincial lines were cut, but the Associated Press was still maintaining contact with the outside world by means of a special hookup through one of the two circuits remaining untouched by 21 normally connecting Madrid and Barcelona, thence to Marseilles to Paris.

Premier Martinon Barrios announced a press censorship Saturday, but newspapers Sunday were permitted to display prominently the disorders and to comment editorially.

Former Wheat King Congratulates Winner

Trelle Proud Of Isackson's Success At Chicago Fair

Wendley, Alberta.—Timely encouragement to Canadian wheat growers is seen by Herman Trelle in Saskatchewan's winning of the world wheat championship at Chicago. Three world wheat king, the Wendley wizard, who was thus barred from the present contest, extended congratulation to Frank Isackson, of Elfron, Sask. The win, he said, was the cumulative result of accurate, constructive observation in a northern wheat area that reflects nature to fair advantage.

Saskatchewan still remains the Dominion's leading wheat producing area and as an Albertan he was proud to bow to Isackson's success on behalf of Canada.

Just as Reward wheat had won individually for Isackson, Reward wheat would continue to win for Canada, he prophesied. Security of Canada's export wheat trade depended on the speed with which Reward is adopted to replace inferior grades glutting the elevators here and abroad.

France has nearly 100,000 more persons employed than in March.

Russian Envoy Litvinoff Avoids Meeting With Chancellor Hitler

Berlin, Germany.—Foreign Commissioner Maxim Litvinoff, of Soviet Russia turned a cold shoulder on the editorial wooing of the Nazi press and departed for Moscow, without seeing either Chancellor Hitler or Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath. The press had indicated a willingness on Germany's part to improve relations with Russia.

Diplomatic circles regarded Litvinoff's failure to contact the German government as an exhibition of studied reserve, almost tantamount to a denunciation.

Further evidence of studied reserve was seen by diplomats in the fact that Litvinoff's visit to Ger-

Dominions Get Data

Free To Comment On Question Of Ireland Leaving Empire

London, Eng.—The correspondence between the Irish Free State and British governments relative to the question of Irish separation from the Empire has been forwarded to all the Dominions for their information. They are free to comment on it if they desire, but, as J. H. Thomas, secretary for Dominions, emphasized in the House of Commons, there is no intention of dragging them into a domestic dispute.

Should President Eamon de Valera carry his quarrel to the point of actual declaration of independence, all members of the commonwealth would necessarily be involved. In that event an imperial conference would probably be summoned, but the question of separation here is considered so hypothetical that the method of consulting other Dominions in such a contingency has not arisen.

Dublin, Ireland.—Publication of the texts of notes exchanged between the Irish Free State and the British governments dispelled tension in the Free State and the belief increased there was little likelihood of a general election in the near future to vote on the question of secession from the empire.

Might Solve Problem

Controlled Rearmament Of Germany Has Been Suggested

Geneva, Switzerland.—In the absence of the president of the disarmament conference, now in Paris to discuss direct negotiations, the opinion voiced by many delegations remaining at Geneva that the probable solution of the crisis will be found in controlled rearmament of Germany. A committee appointed to devise a system of control of armaments has concluded its examination of the problem.

Examination of armaments in all countries by spot investigation has been recommended to the committee by many delegates. Chairman Burgulin, of Belgium, will summarize the committee's suggestions. Definite recommendations are found to be difficult in the absence of Germany.

Direct, although secret, negotiations have been started between France and Germany. Their success, it is believed, will depend on whether France and Germany can reach a real political understanding. The European problem of reduction of armaments hinges directly on this.

Liquor Exports

Canada Intends To Conform With U.S. Regulations

Ottawa, Ont.—Canada intends to keep liquor exports in conformity with United States regulations. It was demonstrated when orders were issued by customs collectors that bond releases would be made only when a certificate was presented from an American consul.

Under Washington liquor regulations, which will be observed by customs officers here, an importer must secure a license before buying foreign whiskey. As a double check, the Canadian distiller must have his invoice validated by the consul in his territory before the Canadian officials will release the liquor from the bonded warehouses.

many en route from Rome to Moscow came at a time when Europe was busy with diplomatic activity as evidenced by the imminent departure of the Czechoslovakian foreign minister, Eduard Benes, for Paris, the Russian minister's own visit with Neurath and Foreign Minister von Hindenburg on the foreign political situation.

According to reliable advice, Litvinoff's mission was charged with the German press jumped to the conclusion his visit to Rome was connected with an effort to improve Russo-German relations through the mediation of Mussolini.

Fighting Red Propaganda

Post Office Department Co-Operating With Government To Prevent Entry

Ottawa, Ont.—A new drive against a flood of red propaganda said to be sweeping over Canada has been launched by Departments of the Federal Government. The chief publication which Ottawa is determined to keep out is the Moscow Daily News. Reports from several leading cities in Canada, including Winnipeg and Montreal, are to the effect that thousands of copies of this paper are being delivered to Canadian residences through the mails.

This newspaper was banned by the customs department, on the urgent request of the Canadian Mounted Police, some months ago, but measures to prevent its entry have proved ineffective.

The post office department reported that full co-operation would be given to the customs department in the drive. New barriers will be erected at every customs port in Canada. It is explained that the simplest way to stay illegal matter entry to Canada through the mails, is to check up on all imports.

Bushmen In Custody

Thirty-Five Strikers Trapped In Railway Coach And Placed Under Arrest

Port William, Ont.—Trapped in the coach they had seized, 35 striking busworkers were in custody of Ontario Provincial police here on charges of vagrancy.

Outnumbered as the strikers quit camps in the Mabel district and boarded the Canadian National Railway train for here, police made efforts at conciliation when the invaders refused to pay fares.

Cries of "throw us off" arose from the men. The police, half a dozen in number, made an effort to remove the men from the train.

Instead, they left the coach. Quickly the doors were slammed shut and wired, windows were guarded and the train began to move. The men were held prisoners until the train reached here, when additional police arrived and placed them all in custody.

De Valera Statement

Claims Right Of Free State To Secede From Empire

Dublin, Ireland.—President Eamon de Valera speaking in the Free State senate, said his latest despatch to London sought to clarify the right of the Free State to secede from the Empire, but "the British Government ran away from it."

"On every occasion that question has been put straight to them, they have balked us," he said.

He said co-operation between the Free State and Great Britain "must be free and unchallenged. If they want peace they can have peace and friendship, but it must be based on our position as equals."

Explorer Receives Welcome

Wellington, N.Z.—New Zealand's officialdom gave a warm welcome recently to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who has decided to sail for the South Pole this week. The explorer received a cordial greeting from Premier G. W. Forbes and members of his cabinet.

Perhaps the most "unlucky" formation flight ever undertaken by a squadron of British aeroplanes took place recently when a number of military planes, manned by Egyptian officers, took off from England for Egypt, where they were intended for general purpose duties with the Egyptian Army Air Force. Shortly after the start of the flight bad weather was encountered and it was only after a fight against tremendous odds that the machines reached their destination. En route one plane crashed, killing the Egyptian officers, and later another machine was forced down with injury to the fliers. Our picture shows the squadron with an Egyptian officer in the foreground.

Takes Over New Duties

Robt. Matthews Sworn In As Minister Of Natural Revenue

Ottawa, Ont.—Robert Charles Matthews, member of parliament for Toronto East Centre, has been sworn in as minister of national revenue to succeed Hon. E. Ryckman, whose resignation, due to ill-health, was accepted recently.

The appointment was not unexpected, the name of Mr. Matthews having been prominently mentioned for the vacancy as soon as Mr. Ryckman's resignation was accepted.

Mr. Matthews lost no time in taking over his new duties. Within half an hour after the formal swearing in at Rideau Hall, Mr. Matthews was at his desk in Connaught Building acquainting himself with the staff.

Successful Flight

Lindbergh Cross South Atlantic In Sixteen Hours

Natal, Brazil.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wireless-operating wife, the former Anne Morrow, have successfully flown the South Atlantic Ocean. They alighted on the harbor here at 3:10 p.m., Brazilian time (1:10 p.m., E.S.T.), after flying from Bahurst, Gambia, Africa, 1,676 miles away, in 16 hours, 10 minutes.

It was their first view of America since July 22 when they took off from Cartwright, Labrador, for Greenland, on a survey flight across the North Atlantic. The whole population of Natal, its stores and offices closed for the feast welcome, its streets decorated, packed the waterfront.

With the alighting of the ship, Mrs. Lindbergh became the first woman to fly in an aeroplane across the South Atlantic.

Fur Fair Awards

Winnipeg, Man.—Two awards were won by the Belmont fur farms, Edmonton, as judging continued in the International Fur Animal Fair here. The Edmonton company was awarded the championship for female purple fox and first place in the class for extra pairs adult female fox. Grand championship of the fox division was won by the Winnipeg Silver Fox Company.

Canadians Capture The Major Awards At Chicago Grain Show

Chicago.—With Frank Isackson, of Elfron, Sask., newly-crowned monarch of North America's wheat men, security in the driver's seat, Canada Friday, aided by a select group of farm students from six provinces, had garnered the majority of prizes in the Chicago international grain show and livestock exposition.

Keen judges in the grain and seed classes awarded Dominion exhibitors 122 crowns in 21 classes competed in. The United States took nine. In the wheat, oats, flax, corn, field peas, rye, corn and alfalfa classes, Canada made a clean sweep.

Isackson's sample of hard red spring wheat took first place in competition with samples of 78 other exhibitors. Ian Smith, young Albertan from Wolf Creek, captured the oats crown, with R. Weeks, of Manville, being crowned flax king. The rye championship was annexed by M. S. Middleton of Vernon, B.C., a third Albertan, Nels Linden, of Wetsiaki, was declared champion in the barley classes.

Alberta exhibitors picked up the majority of the championships won with a total of six and prizes in 46 minor awards. Ontario enters in placed second, with two championships. The eastern province, however, led all other provinces in total grain show awards with 127 prizes to her credit.

British Columbia, hitherto very modest in its bid for agricultural honors, captured championships in rye and field beans. The coast provinces placed in 13 other minor awards.

Samples of grain from Saskatchewan, despite adverse weather conditions which whittled down the number of exhibits, captured the premier honors in wheat and annexed minor awards in 74 other classes, principally with wheat entries.

Manitoba made an excellent showing, scoring awards in timothy and hard winter wheat, while Quebec claimed a reserve title with an entry of field peas.

Ontario turned to corn to mark up the majority of her wins. For one of the few times in corn history, a junior exhibitor from Ontario, D. T. Weaver, of Manville, placed first in region one over farming masters of the United States and Canada.

In addition to oats, flax and barley, Alberta this year produced the best field beans, alfalfa, and timothy in North America. George Baithgate, of Diamond City, won the field beans crown. C. Sorenson, of Stouffville, was winner in the alfalfa competition while A. Monbeon, Pincher Creek, annexed the timothy award.

The field peas champion is W. F. Bigson, of Ladner, B.C., who ousted Herman Trelle, of Wendley, last year's wheat king. M. S. Middleton of Vernon, gave the coast province its second title when his sample of rye was adjudged the best. Wm. Rogers, of Tappan, won a reserve grand championship in the wheat classes with his sample of durum.

Scholarships Award

Successful Candidates From Three Western Provinces

Toronto, Ont.—Awards for the post-graduate overseas scholarships of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire were announced at the national executive committee meeting here.

The successful candidates include: Alberta—Heleen L. Sorenson, B.A., University of Alberta.

British Columbia—William Robinson, B.C., University of British Columbia.

Saskatchewan—Gerald Bates, of Regina, University of Saskatchewan.

Liberate Prisoners

Berlin, Germany.—Vice-Chancellor Hermann Wilhelm Goering has a Christmas gift in store for 5,000 political prisoners in Prussia. He ordered a mass liberation of "concentration camp inmates" shortly before the holidays. Goering said the Nazi regime was now "thoroughly entrenched."

Newfoundland Plan Gets Mixed Reception In British House

London, Eng.—By an easy government majority of 227 votes to 38, the House of Commons passed a financial resolution which precedes general legislation implementing recommendations of the Newfoundland Royal Commission—temporarily withdrawing self-government until Newfoundland's finances are restored.

Despite the big majority however, the proposals got a mixed reception after they were outlined by Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who stressed no empire government had yet defaulted and Britain could not permit Newfoundland, to do so, as would otherwise be inevitable.

The Labor opposition criticized the proposals sharply and there was evident misgiving among the Conservative back-benchers.

The criticisms were directed at the assumption of new obligations by the British taxpayer and against the suspension of self-government in Newfoundland. One Labor member raised the old suggestion that Newfoundland be sold to Canada.

L. C. M. Smyth, former secretary for the Dominions, urged the government should appoint to the Newfoundland governing commission men determined to give a new outlook. Newfoundland had great undeveloped resources and was a land suitable for settlement, but a plan would be necessary to carry out a development scheme, he said.

On the other hand James Maxton, Labor left-winger, and other Labor members attacked the entire scheme as unbusinesslike and the idea of turning Newfoundland into an "El Dorado" as a "dream."

"The cold fact," said Maxton, "is that we are asked to assume the responsibility for a £20,000,000 debt for the creation of which we had no responsibility."

Morgan Jones, Welsh Laborite, sharply asked what the successive governors of Newfoundland had been doing during the years of misgovernment. Had they not reported conditions? What action was to be taken against them, he demanded. "I also think," he added, "the religious denominations in the island are deserving the severest censure for their share in the matter."

Lord Winterton, while supporting the government's proposals, pressed for a declaration that assistance given to Newfoundland should not be regarded as a precedent.

From the government back benches, Lt.-Col. H. H. Spenderley, opposed the proposals because he thought they would be taken as a precedent by other Dominions, and because suspension of self-government would, in his opinion, lead to eventual difficulties between the people and the commission.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Christian Science Monitor's
"Quotation for Today:" The happiness of your life depends upon the quality of your thoughts, therefore guard accordingly.

—Marcus Aurelius.

"Laugh, and the world laughs with you,
Weep, and you weep alone."

Fight, and the world fights with you,
Quit, and you quit alone.

Both are equally true. All the world loves a lover, 'tis said. Isn't it also true that the world loves a fighter, who will see a thing through to the "last ditch." When you face difficulties, then is the time to fight, and fight hard, for often it is the last spurt that wins out.

"Men Must Fight" was the title of a picture shown in the district last week. Men have fought since time began, and will continue to fight. Not as the cave man, with a club, and tooth and claw, but in a more refined way, and just as keenly.

The young are always displacing the old, or attempting to. Business is highly competitive, and in all lines of industry competition illustrates the point that the age of the survival of the fittest is, as it always has been, still with us.

Mental activity, vision, bodily energy, are all required at their highest pitch to survive in any line of business, and there is really no limit on the working or studying hours of he who determines to keep ahead of competitors. Seven hours, five hours, or even less, may become the regular working day, but not for those who wish to accomplish something above the average. They make their own hours. Apart from their regular working hours, their so-called leisure will be used towards advancing themselves.

Among a group of men working the same number of hours each day, will be found those who loaf the leisure hours; others use the time in improving their home surroundings, or following some useful hobby. It takes all kinds of people to make a world;
each individual is a little different from his fellows. That is why attempts at standardization and social legislation do not succeed, because they are at variance with the fundamentals of human nature.

The radical of today invariably becomes the conservative of ten years hence.

Concentration of effort is necessary to succeed. Divide your energies among varied enterprises—in familiar words, have too many irons in the fire—and you will not make a success of any particular one. To do one thing well will occupy your working hours.
"Shoemaker, stick to your last," should be remembered when you are tempted to try something out of your regular line because the other fellow appears to be profiting.

By putting enthusiasm into your business, you arouse the enthusiasm and interest of others.

The Christian Science Monitor, of Boston, Mass., an international daily newspaper, recently celebrated its 25 birthday by issuing daily for one week a rotogravure section depicting progress during a quarter of a century.
Founded by the late Mary Baker
Eddy, this paper has won a place unique in journalism. There is not a more inspiring newspaper, or one more international in scope, than this daily which has correspondents in all important world centres. It recently moved into its handsome new home costing several million dollars, and received tributes of appreciation from statesmen of all countries of the world, besides hundreds of commendatory messages and editorials from papers throughout the world. It is a shining example of what a worth-while newspaper can accomplish in influencing opinion to the higher things of life, for it plays up all that is worth-while,
leaving the featuring of crime news to those papers which make their bid for circulation on sensationalism.

Money spent in keeping sidewalks and roads around town open for travel furnishes much-needed money for unemployed. There is no reason why every sidewalk and crossing in town should be kept clear, with so much labor available.

Since 1883 when the late Henry Beatty, father of E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway brought from Scotland three vessels equipped with sail and steam as was the regulation at that time, for service on the Great Lakes, thousands of travellers have enjoyed this delightful inland voyage from Owen Sound and more recently from Port McNicoll through the locks at Sault Ste. Marie to Port William and Port Arthur.

It is a fitting tribute to the service maintained by the Canadian Pacific that for fifty years this particular mode of summer travel is still considered a necessary part of one's Canadian travel itinerary as evidenced by the large passenger lists on the S. S. Keweenaw and Assiniboia leaving twice weekly from Port McNicoll and on the S. S. Manitoba from Owen Sound weekly. The two former vessels have been in continuous service since 1908 and provide commodious quarters and an excellent table for those seeking quiet relaxation, fresh lake breezes and pleasant travel companions. Both the Keweenaw and the Assiniboia, 4,000 ton steamers, have had but three captains among whom Captain McCannell on the Assiniboia is considered one of the best-known authorities on Great Lakes shipping. Until a few months ago there had been but three managers the late Henry Beatty, the late Arthur Piers, father of A. E. Piers, manager of the Real Estate Department of the Canadian Pacific and M. McDuff, now assistant to the chairman, Canadian Pacific Steamships. Alvin Gallagher is now superintendent. Since the S. S. Algoma went ashore on Isle Royale in 1885, no vessel employed in this service has been lost. The S. S. Manitoba also carrying freight from Owen Sound, was built in the Poison Iron Works in that city, the remaining ships in Scottish yards.

Ailments Of Old Sol

Astronomer Calls New Cycle Of Spots Solar Boils

Although Old Sol is a heavenly body, nonetheless it too has its ailments.

Solar boils. That was the description given at Santa Clara, California, by Dr. Albert J. Newlin, director of the Lick Memorial Observatory, Santa Clara University, in commenting on the new cycle of spots on the sun.

Among the disturbances which will be noted by these spots, according to Dr. Newlin, are disrupted radio reception, possible disruption of the telephone and telegraph service, and a general lowering of temperatures the world over.

"Those spots have the appearance of huge volcanic cones, or bolts, which belch forth gaseous currents of tremendous heat, producing an effect on earth which manifests itself in disrupting or disturbing magnetic terrestrial conditions," Dr. Newlin said. "The result is a distortion of radio waves and interruption of telephone and telegraph communication."

"The cycle usually runs for a period of about ten or eleven years, reaching its maximum at the fourth or fifth year, and," Dr. Newlin added, "at the cycle's maximum, weather conditions are generally cooler, warming up again as the cycle runs toward its minimum."

Japs Venerate Emperor

The Emperor of Japan—his own people never refer to him as the Mikado—represents what clings to the oldest of reigning dynasties. Japanese historians declare that after endless ages in higher spheres their Royal family began its earthly history in 660 B.C. Certainly it has held supreme power in Japan since the dawn of history there. It is no wonder that the Emperors have long been—and still are—regarded with religious veneration by their subjects.

Dunkhobor Troubles

Believes Unrest In B.C. Resulted From Internal Controversy

Suggestion British Columbia's trouble with Dunkhobors, including nude parades, fires, bombing, etc., centered around leadership and arose from internal controversy in the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, is made in a reference to the subject in the annual report of Col. J. H. McMullin, commissioner of B.C. provincial police.

"Since Peter Vergin left the province," the report states, "we have had no trouble of any kind with the Dunkhobors. It is not suggested the Dunkhobor leader was in any way directing the perpetration of those outrages. On the contrary, our information indicates it is highly improbable he had anything to do with them at all; but the sudden cessation creates a suspicion all Dunkhobors, troubles, including nude parades, centered around the leadership and arose from an internal controversy among the directorate of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood."

An Amusing Incident

Boy Readmitted Into Hospital To Meet Royal Visitor

There was an amusing incident during the Duke of Gloucester's tour of the Pontypool and Rhondda areas of the South Wales coal-field. When he visited the Pontypool Hospital the Duke chatted with all the 30 patients, including a nine-year-old boy named Teddy Seward. It appears that Teddy's birthday coincided with that of the Prince of Wales and that it had been the ambition of his young life to meet the Prince or some other member of the Royal family. However, he was discharged cured before the Duke's visit, but the nurses readmitted him, and tucked him into bed in order that he might see the Duke.

Prominent Pedagogues Of Canada And U.S. Meet At Detroit

Some of the most prominent educationalists of Canada and United States, in deep conference at Detroit, took time enough to watch a pair of their leaders toss harpoons into their own methods.

Then came Dr. Stephen Leacock, famous humorist and economist of McGill University, Montreal, who asserted today's college graduate has been "badly damaged" by his education. He said the trouble lies in the fact that "education, in nine cases out of 10, is not pursued for its own sake."

Bill Instead Of Fortune

Man Wrote About Legacy And Got Tax Notice

England's most disappointed and disillusioned man is J. Moore, of Wandsworth.

Fifty-five years ago his wife's grandmother bought land just outside Melbourne, Australia, and then forgot about it.

Recently Mr. Moore read that a building scheme in the same district had turned a man who owned land there into a millionaire.

It was a pleasant thought. Mr. Moore posted the original documents of possession to the town clerk at Melbourne and asked for an estimate of the value of the property.

Back came a letter stating that the land had not been built on, and that its value was still £30. Enclosed was a bill for £13 15s.

The bill was land tax for 55 years at the rate of five shillings a year!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DECEMBER 17

PAUL IN ROME

Golden Text: "I press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."—Philippians 3:14.

Lesson: Acts, Chapters 27, 28.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 23.

Explanations and Comments

The Meeting Of Paul And The Chief Jews Of Rome, verses 17-32.—After resting only three days, Paul summoned the chief Jews in the city to meet him, and told them of experience, how, although he had in no way violated the customs of "our fathers," he had been delivered by the Jews of Jerusalem up to Roman authorities as a prisoner. The latter had been ready to tell them this; that because of the hope of Israel, the Messianic hope, he had been put in chains.

The most difficult task before Paul, the one he naturally most dreaded, was this conference with those Jewish authorities, and this was the first business to which he attended.

"Tackle the dread" are the words which hang over a business man's desk. That is good counsel.

The Jews pointedly answered that they had had no written nor verbal report from Jerusalem concerning Paul; they wished to hear what he had to say for himself.

This act (speaking of the sect of the Nazarenes, Acts 24:5, as they would of the sect of the Sadducees) was everywhere condemned. Why were the Roman Jews so reserved and suspicious?

"The commonly received answer is that they lived in Rome in a state of great insecurity. They had been recently allowed to retain from banishment. Some talk the desire of banishment had been occasioned by tumults caused by the unwholesome Jews attacking the law."

Some talk the desire of banishment had been occasioned by tumults caused by the unwholesome Jews attacking the law.

For 23 and a half years Paul abode in his own hired house, and to all who came to hear him he proclaimed the Kingdom of God, and taught them concerning Jesus, speaking with all boldness, none forbidding him.

"It is still hard to get justice and get it quickly. How can judges, jurymen, attorneys-at-law and police officials be Christianized? Can the pious sentiments which many of them feel personally find expression in their professional activities? It has taken years to convict Chicago's chief gangster, and in his conviction the courts of the city and state where he resided had no part. Moreover, he was found guilty of minor offences only. The case is flagrant, but not exceptional. Apparently the only thing for good citizens to do is to keep the searchlight of pitiless publicity playing upon judicial machinery and to use the ballot to retire officials who have proved themselves unworthy."—Edward Laird Mills.

Illiterates In U.S.

Col. L. M. How, secretary to President Roosevelt, says there are 4,000,000 adults in United States who can neither read nor write; and 8,000,000 more whose knowledge is so limited that they can be classed as illiterates. That makes 12,000,000 in that class, which is more than the entire population of Canada.

Seeks Influenza Cure

London Doctor Experimenting With Chinese Needle Therapy

Influenza, one of the most baffling diseases of modern times may soon be conquered forever if a startling experiment now being conducted in London by a Harley Street doctor proves successful.

The only thing he is using in his experiments is an ordinary housewife's needle.

With this needle the doctor hopes to prove to the rest of the world that "flu" can be cured within a few minutes.

"There is really nothing very new in the idea," he told a reporter, "except as applied to 'flu'."

"But in this direction I think I shall be successful."

The theory of needle therapy, on which I have based my experiments, is actually of Chinese origin and is nearly five thousand years old.

"The system was recently revived by Dr. P. Ferreyrolles, the famous French physician."

"Already needle therapy has treated successfully thousands of hitherto incurable cases of muscular and nervous afflictions."

"The patients have been relieved from pain within a few seconds after application of the needles, and after a further short period of treatment have been permanently cured."

"Briefly, all that has to be done is to insert needles, preferably made of gold or silver, into the body so that certain nerves or combinations of nerves are pierced for varying lengths of time."

"I am working on the assumption," he said, "that flu is primarily a state of nervous disorder."

"If I can prove this to be so, then it will not be long before permanent therapy will be accepted all over the world as the only effective cure for it."

"All I have been able to do up to the present is to remove the symptoms of flu, such as headaches, dizziness, neuralgia and coughs."

"Having got so far, I don't think it will be long before this mysterious disease is completely conquered."

Some Soviet Debts

Russia Has Repudiated More Than Any Other Nation

One of the most interesting expiations of the new recognition of the Soviet by President Roosevelt must be on the debt problem. These debts are not so often mentioned in the U.S. press as those owed by France or Britain. Meantime Russia has repudiated more debts than any other nation. They owed $18,750,000,000 to France and $3,013,732,030 to Great Britain. Of course, there are more recent debts contracted in trading with Germany. The Prussian Premier Goering said that "more German workers could live if Russia paid her bills. That the Soviet government does not pay its bills is obvious. There too, in the overdue debt to the United States to the amount of $283,000,000. In Washington asking recognition of this trifle at all?"—Brandon Sun.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful art student, and Peter Anson, a struggling sculptor, fall in love and marry secretly, deciding to live apart until the time Peter can establish himself. Camilla, the adopted daughter of wealthy parents, is not to inherit money when she comes of age. She is preparing herself for life with a course in commercial art, hoping to get a job to enable her to support herself. She has been making the rounds of the agencies, Peter, working in his studio on an idea for a figure with which he hopes to win a scholarship to study abroad, receives a call from a beautiful model, Sylvia Todd, who offers to work for almost nothing if he will employ her. He cannot afford a model, but promises to think it over. Peter discusses the matter of a model with Camilla and decides to employ Miss Todd. Together Camilla and Peter decide on their figure. They are at the height of their happiness.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXII

Sylvia Todd was doing her best to be comfortable in her over-furnished apartment that was just three short blocks from Amex Hall where Peter had his studio. A huge electric fan contributed its tireless efforts in her behalf, collaborating with a sweating bottle of ice ginger ale, a five-pound box of chocolates and a few assorted pillows. Evidently, Peter's dollar had expended its usefulness. The telephone jingled at Sylvia's elbow.

"Miss Todd?" inquired a guarded voice. "What did you do?"

"Say, he wasn't going to enter that exhibit at all," Sylvia's tone was belligerent, as if she suspected that all was not as it appeared on the surface.

"Impossible! He told you that to get rid of you. Didn't you get the work?"

"Wait a minute! Not so fast, or I'll hang up on you. I was the one who made him reconsider the thing, and I'll bet I got the job. He promised to let me know tomorrow."

"You're sure he wasn't stalling?"

"Not a chance. If he decides to do the work, I'm the model, all right. Leave it to me and call tomorrow night. Say, he even gave me a dollar for my dinner," she laughed triumphantly.

"He would. All right, Miss Todd, I'll call about this same time tomorrow evening."

Sylvia clattered the telephone into place and resumed her sipping of ginger ale with a shrewd smile. Her image was reflected in a mirror on the opposite side of the room, for which gratifying purpose the chaise longue was placed at its particular angle. To that image Sylvia nodded and observed aloud, "Who knows? I may go into this thing on my own interests. He is keener than I expected him to be. But I'll work along with the boss until I see where I stand. Safety first for yours truly."

So Peter began work on his piece for the exhibit. Into it, he put his whole soul and mind, for he was no half-way man about anything he did. Eagerly concerned as he was in his progress, Camilla did not intrude of ten upon his time and solitude. She never went to the studio during working hours, and most of their time together was given to walks in the park or meeting for dinner to talk things over and absorb new courage and inspiration from their companionship.

Already, Camilla was apprehensive about her own future, because she seemed only to meet with pessimism and panic everywhere. But she gave Peter no hint of her anxiety, striving to pour out for him the encouragement and larger measure of hope and confidence than she herself possessed. Added to her increasing fear for her own future, was an atmosphere of disapproval and upheaval at the Hoyts. As Camilla staunchly maintained her preference to become independent, Mrs. Hoyt grew more antagonistic to everything she did. It became increasingly difficult for Camilla to see Peter without admitting how much and how often she did see him. That Peter called for her occasionally, Mrs. Hoyt knew, but that she encouraged him to do so, she was sure. Hours with Peter which she accounted for vaguely as shopping, a matinee, interviewing employers or driving with the girls, she was not aware.

Still, Camilla was soothed much of this man who was nobody and had no special talents. Peter, she felt, was not a person of great importance. She had concluded, of course, she forgot that was original status of all people who really accomplished important things. Her attitude toward Camilla's welfare was an enigma to those who knew the circumstances. She relinquished all responsibility for the girl after her twenty-first birthday, yet was zealous in her efforts to interest Camilla in a marriage which would provide her a fortune.

Peter began to arrange special opportunities for Terry Wayne's convenience. He was perhaps the most eligible of Camilla's following. He answered favorably all the items on her questionnaire of qualifications.

In July, the Hoyt household removed to their summer home at the Resort Club on the lake shore, which complicated the situation for Camilla in some respects and improved others. She was farther away from Peter while at the club, but freer when she drove into town on personal errands.

Another twist in Peter's pride was his refusal to drive with Camilla in her handsome, glittering roadster. Of course, it would be delicious, to sit beside her with the wind blowing against their faces and smatching at their clothes with downy glees, flashing along smooth highways between shimmering fields and cool, fragrant woods; but it would have to be his own motor car in which they drove. So Camilla did not urge him, and never mentioned the subject again after his first terse refusal.

She understood. But being still Camilla Hoyt in the eyes of the world, she motored about on her own affairs alone, or with the girls occasionally.

It was during their second week-end at the Resort Club that Camilla returned from the city to find the house filled with energetic guests. Gay repartee and laughter floated out to her as she drove to the garage, the veranda flashed with vivid spots of frocks, and bathing suited forms all ready lolled on the beach.

She approached the veranda with inquiry on her face. Mrs. Hoyt, in her most gracious and grande dame manner, offered brightly, "Surprise, my dear. I was afraid it had been some dull affair for you out there."

"I arranged a little house party for the week-end. All of your best friends are here."

Camilla could not summon even that enthusiasm which she believed the gracious gesture warranted. "That's awfully good of you," she said vaguely. "Hello, everyone."

"It must be very warm in town," Mrs. Hoyt was solicitous.

"Warm—like a furnace," Camilla nodded.

"Well, come along and get a suit on," ordered Cathie Harris. "Some of us were polite enough to wait for you, even though we're sweltering in here while the cool waves mock us. Everybody on the beach in five minutes!"

"What's the party?" demanded Terry Wayne.

"That depends upon who pays it," Cathie retorted. "The jury will decide the verdict after the offense."

Camilla was poised on the end of the springboard like a winged goddess in her brief scarlet suit, silhouetted against the vivid blue of the sky background. Her diving commanded the admiration of every spectator, with a favorable margin, of course, upon the masculine side. It is not easy for any woman to admire any accomplishment of a rival which attracts male attention.

With the encouragement of applause, she performed the whole series of dives; the graceful jack-knife, the difficult backhand, the twisting corkswim, the hurtling somersault. After the last, she swam slowly to the float and pulled herself up to rest. Terry immediately foveal and joined her.

Ends a Cold SOONER

"That was marvelous," he told her, emerging from the water dripping and white-skinned. "Is there anything you can't do?"

"Don't flatter me, because I've had hours of time to practice diving. I wish I could do something practical."

"You're always practical. Don't you know you're a lot different from the other girls, like Cathie and Avis?"

"I hope I am somewhat individual," she said lightly, and plunged suddenly into the water.

Avis lay on the beach. Her bathing suit was scarcely damp. Swimming was much too strenuous, she thought, to be worth the effort. A cooling dip was enough for her. Camilla dropped down beside her, breathing hard after her race with Terry.

"You have a horrible amount of energy," Avis remarked, her tone divided between admiration and disapproval.

"I wish I had something to use it on. I like to be doing things."

"So I've noticed. By the way, have you seen Peter Anson, lately?"

Camilla started, then replied casually, "Oh, occasionally."

"Is he working for the exhibit?"

"I believe he is."

"Why didn't you ask him to the party? He needs this sort of thing if anyone does."

"It happens I am not his keeper, and besides, I didn't do the planning for this party. It was mother's idea entirely."

"So it was. I've a bright idea. Let's drive in and get Peter now. Your mother wouldn't mind, would she?"

"Perhaps not. But I don't think Peter would come."

"Why not?" Avis demanded sharply.

"He would if I ask him, I bet." Camilla decided that it was wise not to oppose her, and not to be too familiar with Peter's inclinations. "Ask him if you wish, I don't mind." But she wondered what Peter would do about it. She did wish he were there with them. He needed the rest and change. Perhaps it was just as well if Avis did the persuading. He would be more likely to come, under the circumstances.

"Let's get Terry to drive us in," Avis suggested, jumping up to put her plan to action and displaying the most energy she had shown that day.

Mrs. Hoyt was not too enthusiastic about the addition of Peter to the party, but it seemed to be Avis who wanted him, and she could not refuse to grant a guest's friend her hospitality.

Princes Of The Tower

Inquest Is Conducted Four And A Half Centuries After The Incident

An academic inquest into the deaths of the "Princes in the Tower," conducted four and half centuries after the incident, was said to have confirmed the often-doubted assertion they were murdered by their uncle, Richard III. It was said also to have absolved from blame Henry VIII, who dined Richard at the battle of Bosworth on August 22, 1485.

A paper read before the society of antiquaries revealed the inquest had been conducted by Professor William Wright, dean of the London hospital, who was authorized by the dean of Westminster to open the burial urns and examine the bodies of the two princely boys, Edward, Prince of Wales, and the youthful Richard, Duke of York.

Professor Wright estimated the boys' ages at 10 and 12 years, from which he gathered they could not have been alive at the time of the battle of Bosworth and that, therefore, Henry VII, in France until that conflict, could have had no hand in their deaths.

The professor said Edward suffered from a serious dental disease and that a stain of blood across his face bones afforded evidence he had met a violent death.

He said the boys were unusually tall for their ages, one skeleton measuring 4 feet, 8 inches, and the other 4 feet, 6½ inches. He pointed out, however, their father, Edward IV, was three inches over the six-foot mark in height. One of the boys, he said, had an abnormal tear duct, showing he had "cried his eyes out."

Fishing In Madagasc

Natives Find Living Fishhooks Fine For Purpose

When you go fishing in Madagasc you don't always use a rod and hook, you just get a piece of stout line and a fish called a hamby, all alive and wriggling, and let him do the fishing for you! This strange inhabitant of the sea, is about as long as a man's arm and its back fin is just like a brush, covered with a thin layer of some sticky liquid like gum. When this brush fastens on to another fish, that unlucky fellow is held fast and secure, and the fisherman who is using the hamby, just hauls in the line, detaches the captured fish, and puts it in a "steaming hook" in the water again. These "living fishing-hooks" last for years, because the natives keep them in wooden cages, which they fasten in the sea. Needless to say, this useful fish is fed regularly every day by its owner, the chief diet being rice and small fish. Not only fish, but even turtles are said to be caught in this extraordinary manner.

World Dreads War

Cruelty And Destructiveness Of Last War Too Well Remembered

In spite of the belligerent talk of young men in Germany and other countries who have no personal knowledge and have little understanding of the miseries of the great war, too many have its horrors stamped upon their memory to permit an impetuous young generation to renew, or even make more terrible its cruelty and destructiveness. A burnt world still dreads the fire. The real "preventive war" was waged between 1914 and 1918. If the lesson of that will not prevent a similar holocaust for a long time to come, then statesmanship must be paralyzed, the general intelligence made a mockery and religion itself rendered a dead thing.—New York Times.

Pools Do Good Business

Claim Business For Past Crop Season Beyond Expectations

The business results of the western wheat pools for the past crop season have been beyond expectation, with increased percentage of deliveries from pool members and increased patronage from non-pool farmers, delegates to the Alberta wheat pool annual meeting at Calgary were informed.

The information was contained in the directors' report of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers' Limited, central selling agency for the pools. Figures for the season's business were not made public.

The report dealt with the present unsatisfactory agricultural situation and excessive surpluses. It also dealt with the London wheat agreement, international wheat directors stand for establishment of a national marketing board to facilitate the successful carrying out of the conference agreement.

Spain Well Policed

Secret Service One Of Most Efficient In Europe

Some Spaniards once remarked jokingly that every third man in Spain is a policeman. As a matter of fact, Spain has one of the largest and most efficient secret police forces in Europe, built up by Primo de Rivera, and maintained and strengthened by his successors.

All the criminals and most of the potential criminals in the country are spotted and are arrested when and if the necessity arises. Foreign anarchists and criminals who slip down over the border to Barcelona are most of them well known to the Spanish police.

Perhaps the most interesting aspect of the secret police's work is the political. It is almost literally true that the Minister of Interior hears every political remark of importance that is made in Spain. The government knows pretty well who to have watched, and it is notorious that no group of Spaniards can keep a secret.

Cafe and cabaret girls are said to be paid by the government when they sing reliable tips. In addition to the Civil Guard, the Security Guard and the municipal police forces, the republic has just added 5,000 assault guards to its roster. They are tall, husky, quick and unfraid. They are drilled in gymnastic tricks and taught that dreams are to be used only as a last resort in any emergency. These assault guards are to be the special police of the republic.

And in diffusion over more intense. So shall I join the choir invisible Whose music is the gladness of the world.—George Eliot.

A MOTHER PRAYS

God, I would keep my son as now, So dear, so undisciplined, With innocence upon his brow, A sweet and joyous child!

But since I know that cannot be, May he grow wise and strong, Well-armed in integrity, Relentless foe of wrong.

May he with gladness play his part Within the world of men, With courage ever in his heart And faith to try again!

But, Father, in his breast I pray Leave one unchanging place, Where still a little boy will stay For mother's embrace!

Change In Locomotives

Railroad President Predicts That Gas Will Replace Steam

The days of steam locomotive, with its belching smokestack and hissing cylinders, are definitely numbered, in the opinion of Fred Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad.

Single unit gas and electric locomotives of various designs will gradually supplant the iron horse in both suburban and long haul service, Sargent believes. The single unit system is more practical, flexible and economical than either steam or a comprehensive centrifugal electrified system.

"Elaborate studies made by Westinghouse and General Electric show that it would cost at least $600,000 to electrify the three suburban branches of the Northwestern with a fast power plant system," said Sargent.

"I predict that within eight or ten years, possibly sooner, the gas unit or oil-electric engine, will be so far developed that it will take the place of steam on American railways."

And in diffusion ever more intense. So shall I join the choir invisible Whose music is the gladness of the world.—George Eliot.

Certainly in our own little sphere it is not the most active people to whom we owe the most. Among the common people whom we know it is not necessarily those who are busiest, those who are ever on the rush after some visible change and work. It is the lives like the stars which pour down on us the calm light of their bright and faithful being to whom we look up, and to whom we look for the deepest calm and courage. It seems to me there is there a reassurance for many of us who seem to have no chance for active usefulness. We can do nothing for our fellow-man. But still it is good to know we can do something for them, to know (and this we may know surely) that no man or woman of the humblest sort can really be pure, strong, gentle and good, without the world being better for it and without somebody being helped and comforted by the very existence of that goodness.—Phillips Brooks.
